Aloysius Jendrysik, 16, Dies
In Hospital As Result
Of His Injuries

New Castle's first serious
coasting accident of the season
resulted in the death of Aloysius Jendrysik, aged 16 years, of

serious injury to William Pres-
nar, aged 16 years, of 140 Oak-

sius Jendrysik, aged 16 years, of 12 Elmwood street, Oakland, and
serious injury to William Pres-
nar, aged 16 years, of 140 Oak-

The two boys had started at the top of the Maple street hill, which is very steep at this point. Jendrysik straddling the Presnar boy with his knees, and when they reached the intersection of Elmwood avenue,
which is more familiarly known as Atlantic avenue, had attained a terrific rate of speed.

Taken To Hospital.
They struck the front bumper of the car driven by Giering, hurling
them from their sled and across the street. Giering stopped immediately and picked up the one boy, while the other was placed in the machine of J. R. Noga, local undertaker, who happened to be in the vicinity of the accident when it occurred, and they were rushed to the New Castle hospital.

Jendrysik did not recover consciousness, dying a little more than two hours after he was brought to the hospital.

Presnar received a broken left arm
and severe laceration of the left leg.

New Castle School Board Starts Move To Oppose 10-Year Plan

Will Seek Co-operation Of Other Second Class Districts In Battle

City Would Lose Large Sum
Of State Aid Under
New Program

Alarmed over the possibility that the New Castle School District will have its state appropriation reduced
some $30,000, while fourth class
school districts would have their appropriations increased, the New Castle School Board has decided to initiate a movement that is expected to consolidate the second class
school districts of the state, to fight against the proposed new method of school subsidies, a part of the new Ten Year Plan.

The board decided at its meeting Wednesday night to invite every second class school district in the state to send representatives to Harrington on December 28, to discuss the subsidy proposal and to lay
plans to fight it in the 1933 session
of the General Assembly.

District In Middle
To use a slang quotation the proposed subsidy plan to school districts has such districts as New Castle "in the middle." The proposal would do nothing with the huge first class school districts such as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, would reduce the appropriations of the second and third class districts (which are the smaller cities) and would increase the fourth class districts, which are many.

Politically, the tieup would be to have the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh districts go along with the rural districts in the vote in the General Assembly, the effect being

LONDON, Dec. 15.—With head-

From all quarters it was empha-

been to have refused to pay without

BATTLE CERTAIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A battle behind closed doors between backers of 2.75 and 3.2
per cent was opened today as
the House Ways and Means committee was called into session to write a beer and wines
bill.

Having ended seven days of hearings, the committee reviewed the Collier bill—the basis for the hearings—section by section.

The committee at the outset was confronted with the question of the percentage of alcohol to be allowed in a beer, which would be held non-intoxicating if brought to a court
tests.

Beer Per Cent Problem
Although Rep. Collier (D) of Mississippi, chairman, made 2.75 per cent the basis of his bill, brewers
and most of the anti-prohibitionists declare that the beverage must have 3.2 per cent alcohol in it to produce revenue. The 3.2 per cent by weight equals 4 per cent by volume.

"It is my belief that a beer bill will be reported by the committee
so that it can be taken up in the House next Tuesday," said Chairman Collier. Majority leader Rainey (D) of Illinois predicted that the bill would be reported Saturday.

The major questions, in addition to the percentage, before the committee were:
The tax; the bill calls for $5.00 a barrel, with some members urging a $7.50 tax.

Wines; the committee is expected to have a sharp struggle over the

Half Million Is Sum Allotted For Relief In State

Work And Shelter Will Be Provided

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—Shoes
and clothing will be provided, in addition to food, work, and shelter,
for the state's indigent, according to plans today.

The state emergency relief board
decided upon a sum of a half million dollars of federal relief money
and allocated it to county relief
boards for that purpose.

Distribution of shoes and clothing will be made co-operatively by the county boards and the Red Cross to prevent duplications. No time limit for use of this money was fixed, the board intending the work shall be continued while money is available.

At its meeting yesterday the state board took no further action to establish community markets where food would be distributed to the needy.

Copeland called on the senate

DEER OH DEER! SPORTSMEN SAY THEY'RE BOLDER

Whether they thought the

whether it was their confidence in the marksmanship of their would-be captors, the
"bravado" of game in the deer

trio of New Castle sportsmen
home grossly amazed.

But because Ralph Shaffer,

came back from the woods of Emblenton minus their deer,
friends were persuaded that it must have been the latter.

companions were in the game

Next Move Of France To-

Payment Uncertain

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Further pressure
was brought upon Edouard Herriot, overthrown on the war debt issue, to head a new government today as President LeBrun continued his consultations to end the crisis caused by the French war debt default.

It was regarded as virtually cer-

refuse to succeed himself as premier.
In that event, it was believed, Jos.
Paul-Boncour, minister of war in the Herriot cabinet, would be Le-Brun's second choice.

The next move of the French government regarding the war debt instalment due to the United States
today remained uncertain, pending
crystallization of American reaction

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Premier Edouard Herriot today refused to form a new government to succeed his ministry which resigned after the Chamber of Deputies voted to "defer" the war debt payment to the United

America Much Aroused Over French Default

Retaliatory Measures Are Likely To Result It Is Now Indicated

CONGRESS AWAITS
OFFICIAL NOTICE

France Will Not Get Benefit
Of Any New Agreement On Debts

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.— Stirred as it has not been since war days, Washington
today began consideration
of retaliatory steps against France for her defiant default on her debt payment of $19,000,000, due at the U. S.
treasury today.

In and out of congress, indignation ran high. And the view was generally taken that by her unprecedented act France has eliminated herself from participation in the benefits of any future readjustment
of the whole debt structure. Opinion was universal that there can be no
further negotiations with France
until she meets this payment.

Can't Deal With Defaulter.
"You can't deal with a defaulter,"
said one official.
As soon as the default becomes official, that is, after today, President Hoover is expected to lay the situation before congress in a special message. His present disposition is to ask congress to authorize the appointment of a bi-partisan commission to deal with those debtor countries that have met their obligations, but to which the defaulters will have no approach until they honor their signatures on the obligations now due.

There are various other methods
by which France can be "punished"
for her default.

May Bar Securities.
Already one resolution has been introduced in congress to bar from this country the securities of any foreign country which defaults on its solemn obligations to the United States.

There will be scores of other retaliatory measures introduced in succeeding weeks unless the debtor takes steps to rectify their defaults.

The speculation and talk concerning these measures ran all the way from a boycott on French goods to the prevention of American tourists
from spending the millions of dollars they annually spend in France.
In the past few years, the American tourist trade has been worth from $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 a year, or many times the relatively insignificant sum of $19,000,000 which France
has refused to pay.

Senator Reed Sarcasitic
Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, in commenting upon the resolution to bar French securities
from this country, sarcastically observed he didn't think it was necessary.

"Anybody who would buy a French security after this doesn't deserve to have any money," he said.
That was about the mildest of the comment that ran through both parties and both houses of congress.
Some of it was extremely bitter, and

TRY KANE WOMAN FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

No Intimation Of Defense For Accused Slayer

Enters Second Day Of Murder Trial With No Hint Of Defense

MANY WITNESSES FOR COMMONWEALTH

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., Dec. 15.—The trial of Mrs. Beatrice Sullivan, of Kane, on charges of murdering her husband, Neil Sullivan, entered its second day at McKeen county court at Smethport today with the defendant's counsel still withholding any intimation of what will constitute the defense.

Yesterday the prosecution, headed by District Attorney Charles G. Hubbard, paraded ten witnesses before the jury. All of them apparently made but little impression upon the defense counsel, R. T. Mutzbaugh, of Kane, and John Fitzgibbons, of Bradford, for they made but cursory cross-examinations.

Wounds Described
Dr. O. W. Ostrander, of Smethport, and Dr. J. M. Heimbach, of Kane, testified concerning the autopsy, agreeing that two bullets entered Sullivan's head from the left side of the automobile, on which Mrs. Sullivan was sitting at the time the tragedy occurred.

County Detective J. J. Allison told of finding two empty shells on the floor of the car.

Leo Campbell, proprietor, and Leo Donovan, an employee, of the alleged speakeasy at which the Sullivan's spent some time just prior to the shooting, said that both were under the influence of liquor and that Mrs. Sullivan had to be assisted to the automobile when they left.

Woman In Stupor
Carl Lind, W. H. Christie, Jr., and Hubert Summersgill, residents of the Hacker-Greaves street vicinity, where the Sullivan car was mired, told of finding Mrs. Sullivan sitting beside the unconscious form of her husband in the automobile when aroused by the shots.

John Macewen, Kane policeman, testified that he was called to the scene of the tragedy and found Mrs. Sullivan in a stupor.

which cross main highways should in no instance be used as coasting streets. Auto drivers are unable to stop cars on a moment's notice with conditions as they are, and there is a great element of danger for the coasters.

The Neshannock creek is almost frozen across in the vicinity of the East Washington street bridge, despite the fact that the water is running swiftly at that place. Years ago, when the dam was in the creek near the Mill street bridge, the creek would freeze over solidly at the East Washington street bridge section with much less wintry weather conditions than during the past few days.

Some weather prophet in the eastern part of the state comes forth with a prediction for 18 snows this winter.

Drivers coming into Pennsylvania from Ohio are commenting on how much better Pennsylvania roads are kept for traffic than the roads in Ohio.

The Christmas decorations being erected on the curb lighting poles downtown are going to make a most attractive effect. The lights will be high enough that they cannot be appropriated easily. Last year, New Castle's elaborate holiday decorative system was badly handicapped by theft of lights in the trees on the curb.

According to reports of the city department of engineers, red lanterns seem to be the very kind of a lantern some people want. It is said that of about 80 placed along the Washington street excavation, 30 have been stolen.

In addition to the new Pennsylvania license plates, which were reported by New Castle motorists today for the first time, Pa New observed new Ohio license plates were also in use. They are a deep orange color with black letters and numerals.

question of legalizing light wines of a possible nine or ten per cent alcoholic content.

Distribution Problem
Distribution; a conflict has developed between those who would let the states decide the method and those who want strict regulations to prevent return of the saloon.

Speaker Garner was prepared to give the Beer Bill right of way. Reports to Democratic leaders indicated the bill will be passed by Wednesday.

Beer Of 3.2 Alcohol
Washington, Dec. 15.—Legalized beer of 3.2 alcoholic content and a $5 a barrel tax was approved by the house ways and means committee in secret session today.

The committee made unexpected progress on the Collier beer and light wines bill after seven days of hearings with indications it might be reported out of the committee today.

The 3.2 per cent of alcohol by weight—equal to 4 per cent by volume—was approved without a record vote according to Rep. Bacharach (R) of New Jersey. No vote was taken on the 2.75 per cent provided in the Collier bill.

"It seemed to be fairly unanimous to have the 3.2 per cent if we have the bill," said Bacharach. He made the motion for this content.

The $5 a barrel tax was voted 16 to 7, he said. There was a sharp division on the tax, some wets favoring a higher tax.

Informal protests have been heard from other second class districts and from third class school districts but no definite action has been taken to fight the plan in an organized manner. This the New Castle board intends to do and the letters of invitation to the other second class districts will go out immediately.

President Daniel B. Woolcock of the board will appoint several members of the New Castle board to go to Harrisburg on December 28 and organize the fight. With the second class districts organized, an appeal will be made to the third class districts to join the fight and thus organized they will be prepared to go to the General Assembly when the bill comes up and fight it.

Spolonik's Sister Is Located In New Jersey Town

Comes Here After Being Notified By Goldman Of Brother's Death

Mrs. Veronika Yezo, wife of August Yezo, of Guttenberg, N. J., sister of Mike Spolonik of 123 1/2 North Norris Way, found dead last Monday morning in the home of John Bulboa, 538 Sampson street, and her husband arrived here this morning over the Baltimore and Ohio at 9:58 o'clock and assumed charge of the funeral arrangements. They were accompanied here by A. J. Goldman of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, who was in New York on business and when the sister could not be located undertook to locate and find her in Guttenberg instead of Passaic, according to the address found among his possessions.

According to Mrs. Yezo he was born in Czecho-Slovakia and had been in this country about 17 years. She has been a resident of this country for 26 years and he came to her home first on arriving in this country.

Funeral services will be held Friday, December 16, 1932 at 9 a. m. in St. Michael's Slavish Roman Catholic church. Interment will be made in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

BOY COASTER FATALITY HURT IN OAKLAND

It is not believed that he has any other injuries, the attending physician stated this morning. His condition was reported as fair at the hospital.

According to William Saletra of Elmwood street, companion of the dead boy, he made an attempt to flag down the approaching automobile, which did not stop, but the driver stated that there was a large crowd of boys all along Atlantic avenue, and that they had made efforts to stop him and slow him down, asking to be pulled along. When he saw the group near the intersection of Maple street, he believed that they were fooling as had the other groups along the road.

Unable To Stop.
He was unable to see the sled coming down Maple street until almost upon it, due to the fact that the houses along the street are built fairly close to the road. He stated that he made every effort to stop when he saw the coasters, but was unable to slacken the speed of his car enough to avoid the collision which resulted.

He immediately took one of the boys to the hospital while the other was placed in another machine. The car Gierling was driving is owned by William Kimberly of 18 North Beaver street. Gierling's machine had frozen up in Marienville this week while he and a group of friends were hunting in Forest county, and he had borrowed Kimberly's car, intending to drive up to Marienville this morning and bring his car back.

An inspection of the Kimberly car this morning showed that the front bumper had been driven to the left several inches by the impact of the collision, when the youths struck it. Gierling stated that he would have stopped his car at the intersection had he dreamed that there were any coasters coming down the hill, but the actions of the other boys along the roadway had misled him. He was unaware that the Jendrysk had been dead until informed by deputy coroners this morning.

Gierling, following the accident, made a report of the same to the state highway patrol.

It is unlikely that an inquest will be held in the case, as the accident was unavoidable, as far as Coroner Potter's office was able to learn after interviewing most of the eye witnesses and the driver of the machine.

Corporal L. J. Lawton of the state highway patrol, who also investigated the accident, stated that the youths would have no right to stand on the road, which is a state highway and widely used by motor traffic.

In addition to William Saletra,

Verdict Of Guilty In Cameron Case

Defendant Pleads Guilty To Other Charges After It Had Been Rendered

The jury in the case of John W. Cameron, charged with false pretense in connection with the purchase of some calves from J. D. Ambrosia of Mahoning township, brought in a verdict of guilty. The case was tried before Judge R. L. Hildebrand. It was claimed that Cameron in order to bolster up his financial responsibility had represented that he owned a farm in Mercer county, which it was later found had been sold.

There were two other charges against Cameron and following the verdict he entered pleas on these charges. He had been out on $300 bail, but after the verdict and pleas the bail was raised to $1000, and Cameron was committed to the custody of the sheriff.

generally its tone was that if there ever had been any chance of France getting her debt reduced she had forfeited it by her almost flippant repudiation of the debt due today.

France Forces Small Nations As for the other small defaulters, Belgium, and probably Poland, it was felt that these countries were forced into their action by the French. They are scarcely more than vassals of France under existing conditions.

Whether congress will agree to Mr. Hoover's request for the appointment of a commission to deal with the "honest debtors" is problematical. It has heretofore refused in the existing circumstances, there was a feeling in some quarters that its consent might be won at this time—if for no other reason than to punish France by refusing her any access to the new agency.

Should congress refuse, however, President Hoover's only recourse would be to appoint such a body on his own executive responsibility, and trust that its findings might win the approval of the legislature.

The French decision not to pay was officially communicated to Secretary of State Stimson during the war.

Thus far there has been no outburst on either floor of congress about the French default, due to administration pressure and the fact the default does not become official until after today. But it cannot be long delayed.

England Pays.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Notice that $95,550,000 in gold had been earmarked in London for the account of the American government, to meet Great Britain's December 15 war debt payment, was handed to Secretary of the Treasury Mills today by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador.

Italy was expected to make its payment at the Federal Reserve bank in New York today. Mills said that Poland, France and Hungary would default on their payments totaling $25,855,141.

Czecho-Slovakia Pays
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Czecho-Slovakia in a formal note today, stated it was making its war debt payment without strings or reservations, but stressed the hardships encountered in doing so.

The note asked, however, that some way be found to incorporate the last instalment into whatever arrangement may be arrived at as the result of negotiations for reconsideration and revision which the Czecho-Slovakian government urged be entered into at the earliest possible date.

Mrs. Dickson Cites Employment of Non-Resident Teachers Here

ASKS BOARD TO ACT IN MATTER

Mrs. Henrietta Dickson appeared before the New Castle School Board on Wednesday night when the board met in formal session, and suggested that when teacher's contracts are again tendered, that New Castle men and women who are qualified to teach, be given consideration by the board as against men and women who reside in other cities and teach here.

"This is merely a suggestion to the board," said Mrs. Dickson. "A number of people have drawn to my attention the fact that there are men and women teaching in the New Castle school district who are residents of other cities, who pay little if any taxes here and are receiving maximum salaries for their work."

Local Teachers Idle

"We have in New Castle many young men and women, sons and daughters of tax payers who have graduated from the colleges of the state and from other colleges, who are idle, yet who if employed would start at a salary far below what is being paid to the outsiders."

"I have nothing personal against any outside teacher, neither is this a criticism of their ability but in times like these, when tax payers are pressed to the very limit to pay their taxes it does seem an absurdity to have people from other cities in here taking the New Castle tax money for high salaries, while the children of the taxpayers cannot get jobs. It seems to me that this matter should be adjusted."

Answering Mrs. Dickson, J. H. McVenny, a member of the board said that the policy of the board now was, and had been for some years, when new teachers were hired to give preference to local men and women.

No action was taken by the board in the matter as the teachers now on the roster are under contract until the end of the present term. Contracts are sent out usually in May, although where the board expects to terminate the contract of a teacher it must do so sixty days before the end of the school term.

C. Edward F. Knoblock Denies Fraud In Connection With Loan Made On It

The case of the commonwealth against C. Edward F. Knoblock, Jr., charged with fraudulent conversion, was called for trial this forenoon before Judge R. L. Hildebrand. It is claimed that some time ago James DeMoss, who is now serving a term in the Western penitentiary for robbery, took a fur coat to Knoblock, as security for a loan of $10. The coat, he represented, belonged to a friend, Betty Giblin. Knoblock, according to his story, made a loan of $10 on it with the understanding that the coat was to be redeemed inside of 30 days. No redemption was made. Knoblock kept the coat for some six months, and then, as no effort had been made to redeem it, sold it. Later, when the owner wanted to redeem the coat, Mr. Knoblock did not have it. He was then charged with fraudulent conversion.

Mr. Knoblock denies that there was any fraud on his part, he having held the coat for much longer than the 30-day limit which had been agreed upon.

DeMoss was brought back from the Western penitentiary by Sheriff Frank Johnston this week to testify in the case.

Daring New York Holdup Nets Gang Of Bandits $15,000

Victims Terrified By Tear Gas Bombs As Bandits Coolly Make Safe Getaway

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Tear gas bombs were hurled among their terrified victims by six bandits who looted a Washington Heights bank of $15,000 today.

Despite a mad pursuit by police radio cars, the bandits, six of them, made their escape.

One woman employee fainted and six others were affected by the tear gas during the spectacular holdup with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and revolvers in the branch of the bank of Manhattan Trust Company.

While four machine gun men stood guard the others quickly scooped up $5,000 from the cage of Andrew W. Stucke, the teller, and $10,000 from the bank vault.

One bandit cut the telephone wires to prevent a quick alarm and the gang backed toward the door.

The manager stepped after them, but he did not get far. As with one gesture, the bandits reached into their pockets, smashed the bombs to the floor directly in front of the employees.

In an instant the room was filled with the fumes. The victims choked, their eyes burned, but they remained against the wall until the bandits had made the street and had sped away in their car.

To think that a mere change in the law will make the hijacker's trade dishonest.

JAIL COAL THIEVES John Sanders and James Woodson, this city, were given sentences of 30 days each to the Lawrence county jail this morning by Alderman Wallace J. Ewing for stealing coal from trains of the P. & L. E. railroad.

Sanders and Woodson, it was alleged, stole the coal to sell to others.

You can tell the statesmen in a Washington crowd. Just yell "Default!" and see who faints.

Beer, Alas! will work both ways. One man will feel rich and another will cry because he isn't.

Over Thirty Percent Of City's Population Borrowing From Library

Do New Castle people use their library? Do they! Latest report from the librarian, Miss Alice Sterling, shows that 31.4 per cent of New Castle's population is included among borrowers.

Number of library card owners has grown by leaps and bounds—perhaps the unemployment has something to do with it—until the total number of borrowers is now 15,300. And that is a great big crowd, folks, any way you pack them.

In last month alone 437 decided to become regular borrowers and signed up for their cards. Of this number 236 were adults and 201 children.

There are nearly twice as many adult borrowers as juvenile at the present time, according to Miss Sterling's report, there being 10,066 adults and 5,234 younger reading enthusiasts.

That each one of these people use their cards regularly is apparent from the huge circulation of every month.

New York Doctor Near Death From Bullet Wounds

Man Who Fired Three Bullets Into Doctor Is Killed By Policeman

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Mystery today surrounded the shooting of Dr. William J. Walsh, 41, for ten years club physician for the New York Giants, by a patient in his office on Riverside Drive last evening.

Dr. Walsh, shot three times, was in a critical condition at Lutheran hospital this morning. His assailant, identified as John Wilson, was slain in a pistol battle with police a few minutes after his revolver had pumped three bullets into the physician.

Just before seeing Wilson, Dr. Walsh had confided to a friend in the office that Wilson had telephoned Tuesday night and asked Dr. Walsh to examine his brother, who he said was suffering from a heart attack. Believing the case involved wounded gangsters, Dr. Walsh refused, and asked for a guard of two policemen at his office.

The policemen were not in the office, however, when Dr. Walsh, against his better judgment, agreed to see Wilson last night.

Mills Says Beer Tax Would Not Be Enough To Balance Budget

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Secretary of the Treasury Mills today estimated the beer tax proposed in the Collier bill would yield $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 revenue the first year—about half the estimate of Democratic house leaders.

The treasury's estimate was given to the house ways and means committee Wednesday, concluding testimony on a beer and light wines measure.

Would Increase.

Mills said that the tax would increase in later years.

Immediately after Mills completed his statement Acting Chairman Rainey (D) of Illinois, asked this question:

"Do I understand the administration favors this bill?"

"I am not here speaking for the administration," Mills replied. "I am here as secretary of the treasury speaking on the revenue features. You will realize that aside from the revenue features there are social and legal questions involved. As to those questions I, as secretary of the treasury, do not give an opinion."

"Will the president sign a beer bill?"

"My Rainey, you know that no one can speak for the president except himself."

Refuses Comment.

"I note the president did not mention it in his message," Rainey continued. "Do you favor it yourself?"

"I am not here to express an opinion," Mills replied. "As Secretary of the treasury I am not qualified to speak on it."

Mills told the committee the tax yield might be increased if malt syrup is subject to a compensatory tax. He declared the tax proposed on light wines in the present form of the bill is impossible of administration.

During the reading of his prepared statement, Mills carefully avoided either endorsing or opposing the beer tax. He gave no hint of the attitude of President Hoover toward the bill, or a possible veto.

While admitting the beer tax would be a substantial aid in balancing the budget, Mills said it was not enough. He called for other taxes and a strong effort by congress to end treasury deficits.

Urges Excise Tax.

Mills urged a general manufacturers' excise tax together with continuation of the federal gasoline tax for another year.

His estimate of beer production during the first year fell considerably short of the estimate of brewers' and tax experts of the ways and means committee. It was based in part upon a belief that the public has lost its beer taste during the era of hard-liquor drinking and home-brewing.

Must Balance Budget.

The estimate also was based upon a $5 a barrel tax on 2.75 per cent beer, as provided in the Collier bill. Some committee members are urging a $7.50 a barrel tax on 3.2 per cent beer.

Mills pointed out that both parties had pledged themselves to balance the budget. He said a deficit is inevitable this year, but it can be eliminated for the fiscal year 1934. The treasury will need $307,000,000 additional revenue to balance the budget in 1934, which amount may be increased by the failure of foreign nations to meet their debt obligations in full, he said.

Coal Operators Resent Charges From Governor

Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Say Pinchot Charges Not Against Them

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Coal operators in the Pittsburgh area today registered denials that charges made by Governor Gifford Pinchot against western Pennsylvania mine owners applied to them.

Gov. Pinchot demanded western Pennsylvania operators clean up the "abominable" conditions under which miners were working, under threat of a legislative investigation. He charged miners were being cheated out of part of their pay and forced to buy from company stores of unreasonable prices.

The operators emphasized their denial that "zero" wages were common. Gov. Pinchot charged in some mines every cent of the miners' pay was deducted for commodities furnished by the company.

The Saturday morning program includes Religious school classes between 9:30 and 11 o'clock and religious services between 11 and 12 o'clock. Two members of the children's congregation—Rev. Love and Natalie Ehrlich—will read the prayers, and Rabbi Fineberg of Niagara Falls, N. Y., will address the children and adults.

Plans for the children's Chanukah entertainment are progressing, and the children are rehearsing diligently under the direction of Mrs. Sam Lubel.

The flowers that will adorn the pulpit this week end have been supplied by the Temple Floral Memorial Fund, in honor of the honored guest, Rabbi Abba M. Fineberg.

After the Friday evening service, the members and friends will enjoy an hour of fellowship in the vestry room, with the Sisterhood hospital-ity committee acting as hostess; the opportunity will then be given to meet the visiting Rabbi more informally.

NEW YORK STATE LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS SESSION

New York City Can Cut Down

Special Session Of Legislature Gives Metropolis Authority To Act

BIG ECONOMIES TO BE EFFECTED

(International News Service) ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Bowling to the demand of Wall street bankers, the special session of the state legislature early today jammed through a program of New York City salary reduction bills and adjourned sine die.

The bankers were adamant in insisting there must be no strings of any kind to the pay out bills affecting New York City teachers, firemen and policemen, and the lawmakers sullenly struck out amendments which would have limited the reduced scales to two years.

President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt emerged from the session victorious in his demand that steps be taken to speed revision of New York City's charter.

To Overhaul City Government. During the final hours, the lawmakers unanimously adopted a resolution creating a legislative committee to receive charter revision suggestions from the New York City board of estimate or any civic organization or individual, and submit them to the 1933 session.

This paves the way for former Governor Alfred E. Smith's recommendations for overhauling New York City's governmental structure, to be laid before the next session. Three of the salary reduction bills are designed to effect economies of $40,000,000 in the 1933 New York City budget. Half that sum is to be saved by reopening the budget and slashing appropriations already approved. The remainder will be effected by cutting salaries of policemen, teachers, firemen and other city employees.

At their last meeting the committee decided to present all needy families with a well-filled Christmas basket.

Valuable Antiques Found in This Treasure Trove

The Collection of Richard B. Tippet, a Wealthy American, Includes Furniture, Silver, China, Pictures, Books, All of Unusual Interest.

WHILE fortunate circumstances were responsible for the passing of Themistocles ring into possession of Mr. Tippet, a discriminating taste and a keen interest in the beautiful as well as in the antique have led him to gather during the last 30 years a treasure trove which undoubtedly forms one of the most valuable and unique collections in this country. For this purpose he has made 18 trips to Europe and has traveled up and down the Atlantic seaboard, gleaming as he went.

His collection includes furniture, silver, china, pictures, glass and books. Each piece is said to be the finest known example of its kind.

Among the most interesting pieces of silverware is a set of 12 dinner plates, once the property of the famous Burdette Coutts family in England. The plates were made by hand in 1764. Upon each plate is engraved the family crest and coat of arms, its number, the hallmark and the name of the maker.

Mr. Tippet chanced to be in England when he learned the Coutts collection was to be sold and commissioned a friend to buy the dinner plates, as he was returning to America before the sale was to take place. A short time after he returned the plates arrived, each one as perfect as the day it was made.

Rare China.

A set of Royal Crown Derby china, glorious in its pattern of deep red, old blue and dull gold, with cups and vegetable dishes in quaint design, is another "find" of Mr. Tippet's travels and share honors with the set of antique Lowestoft.

Several rare and unusually beautiful coffeepots, also dating back to the time when the Georges were on the British throne and the United States was a struggling and obstreperous adjunct of the crown, provide unusual interest for the lover of the antique.

Each is made by hand and is a tribute to the skill of its maker. Graceful in design, devoid of ornate trappings, each one is a thing of beauty and forms part of this unique collection. One was made in 1732; another in 1733; the most "modern" of the lot in 1768. The hallmark on each fixes the date unmistakably and leaves no room for doubt of the genuineness of the piece.

With the coffee pots Mr. Tippet also treasures several Sheffield coffee urns, the exact date of which is not known, but which are unmistakably at least 200 years old.

One of the quaintest, and probably not to be duplicated in this country, is a silver stew pan with a wooden handle and holding, probably three pints. This is perfectly plain as to design and with beautiful lines, but it unmistakably has been used as a cooking utensil.

Chinese Lowestoft.

In addition to the Royal Crown Derby and the antique Lowestoft mentioned above, Mr. Tippet treasures a set of Chinese Lowestoft which probably cannot be duplicated in this country. A set of Don Quixote plates in blue depict the adventure of the bold wayfarer and Sancho Panza, and were brought from England.

Another set of plates set forth the adventures of Dr. Syntax, one of the unconscious buffoons of eighteenth century England.

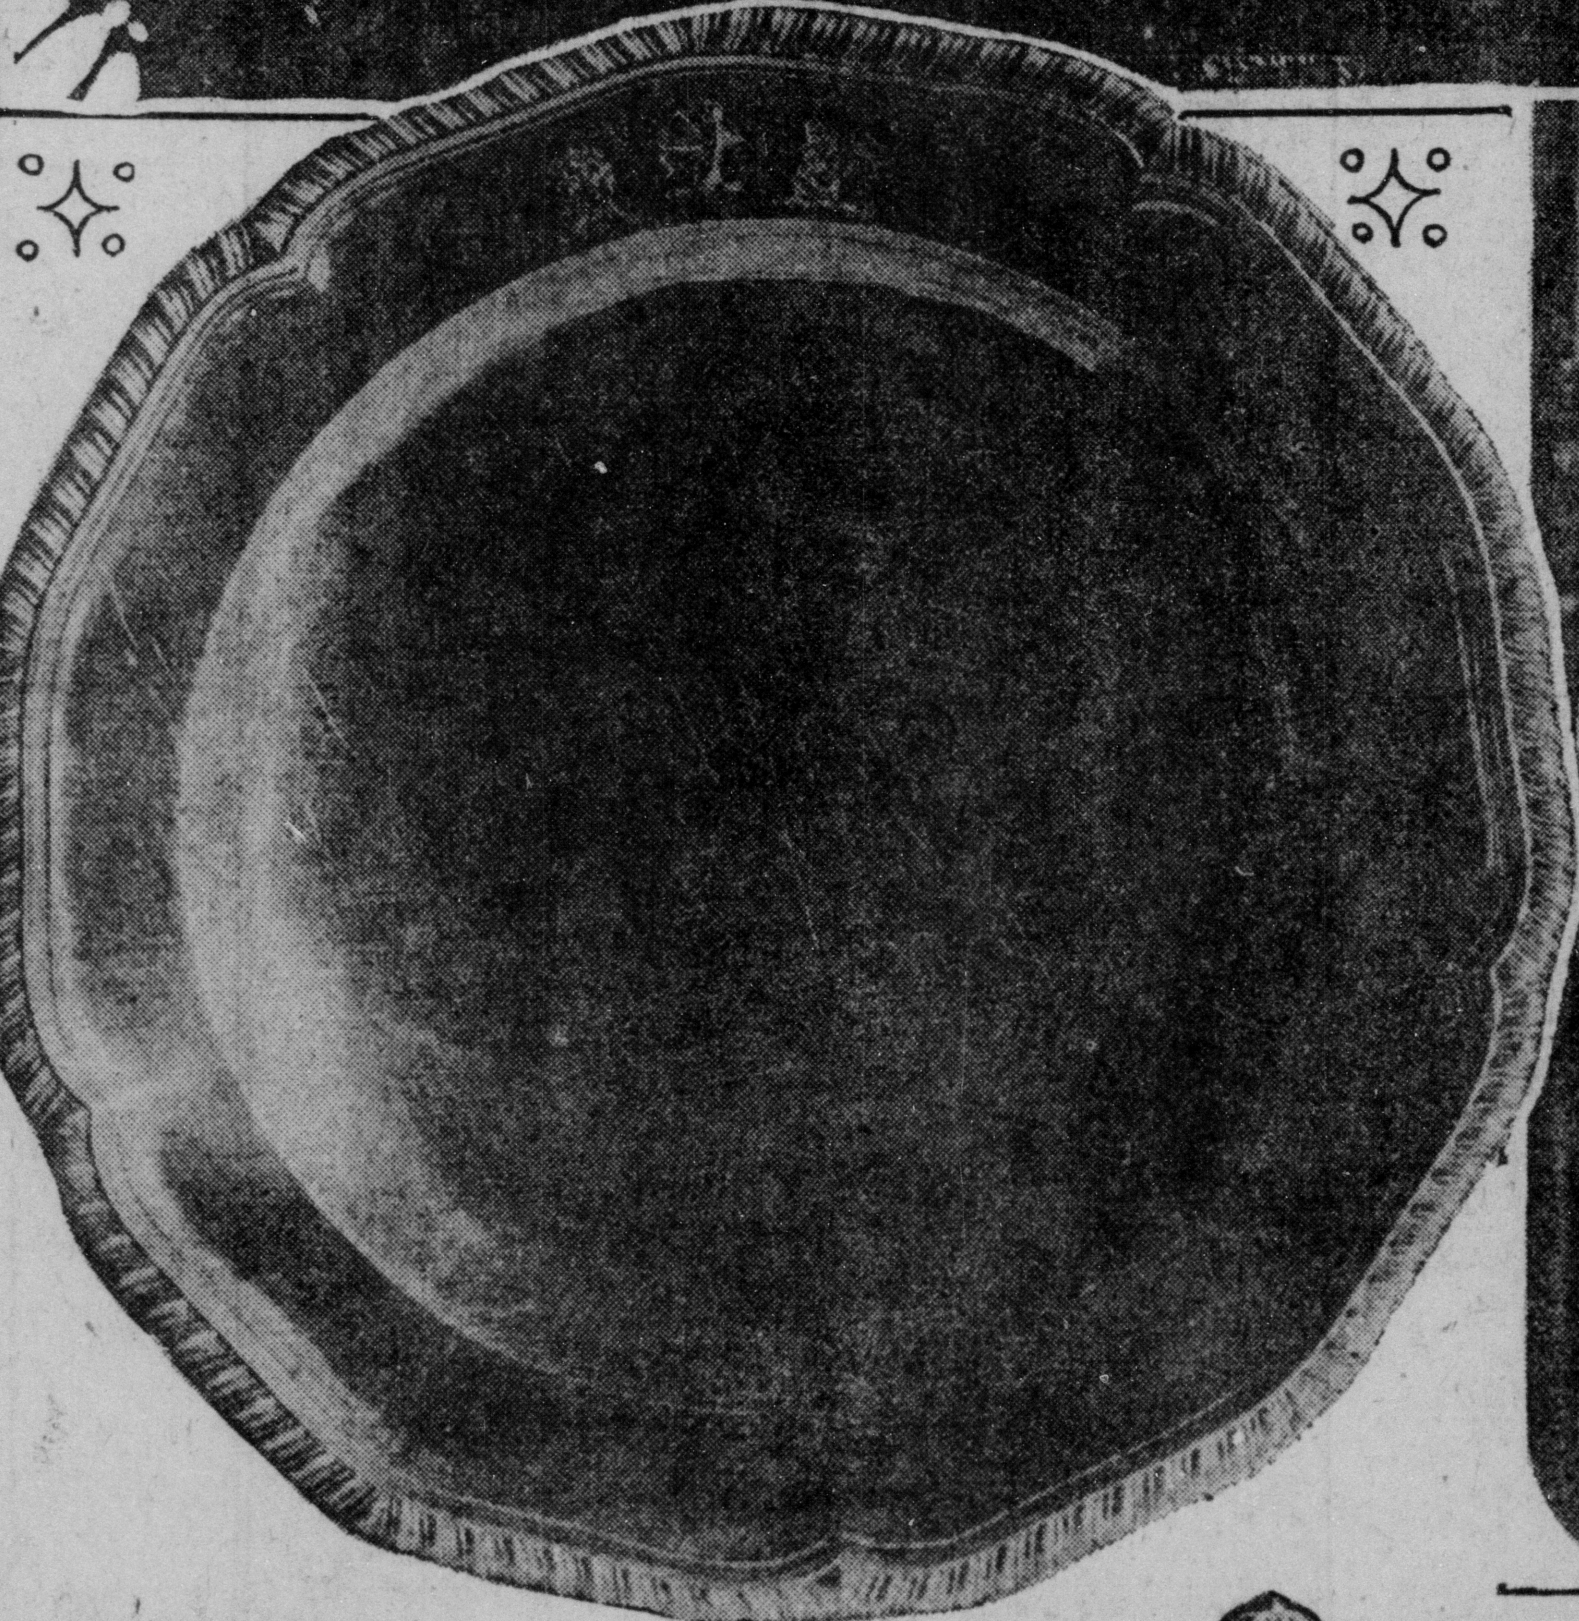

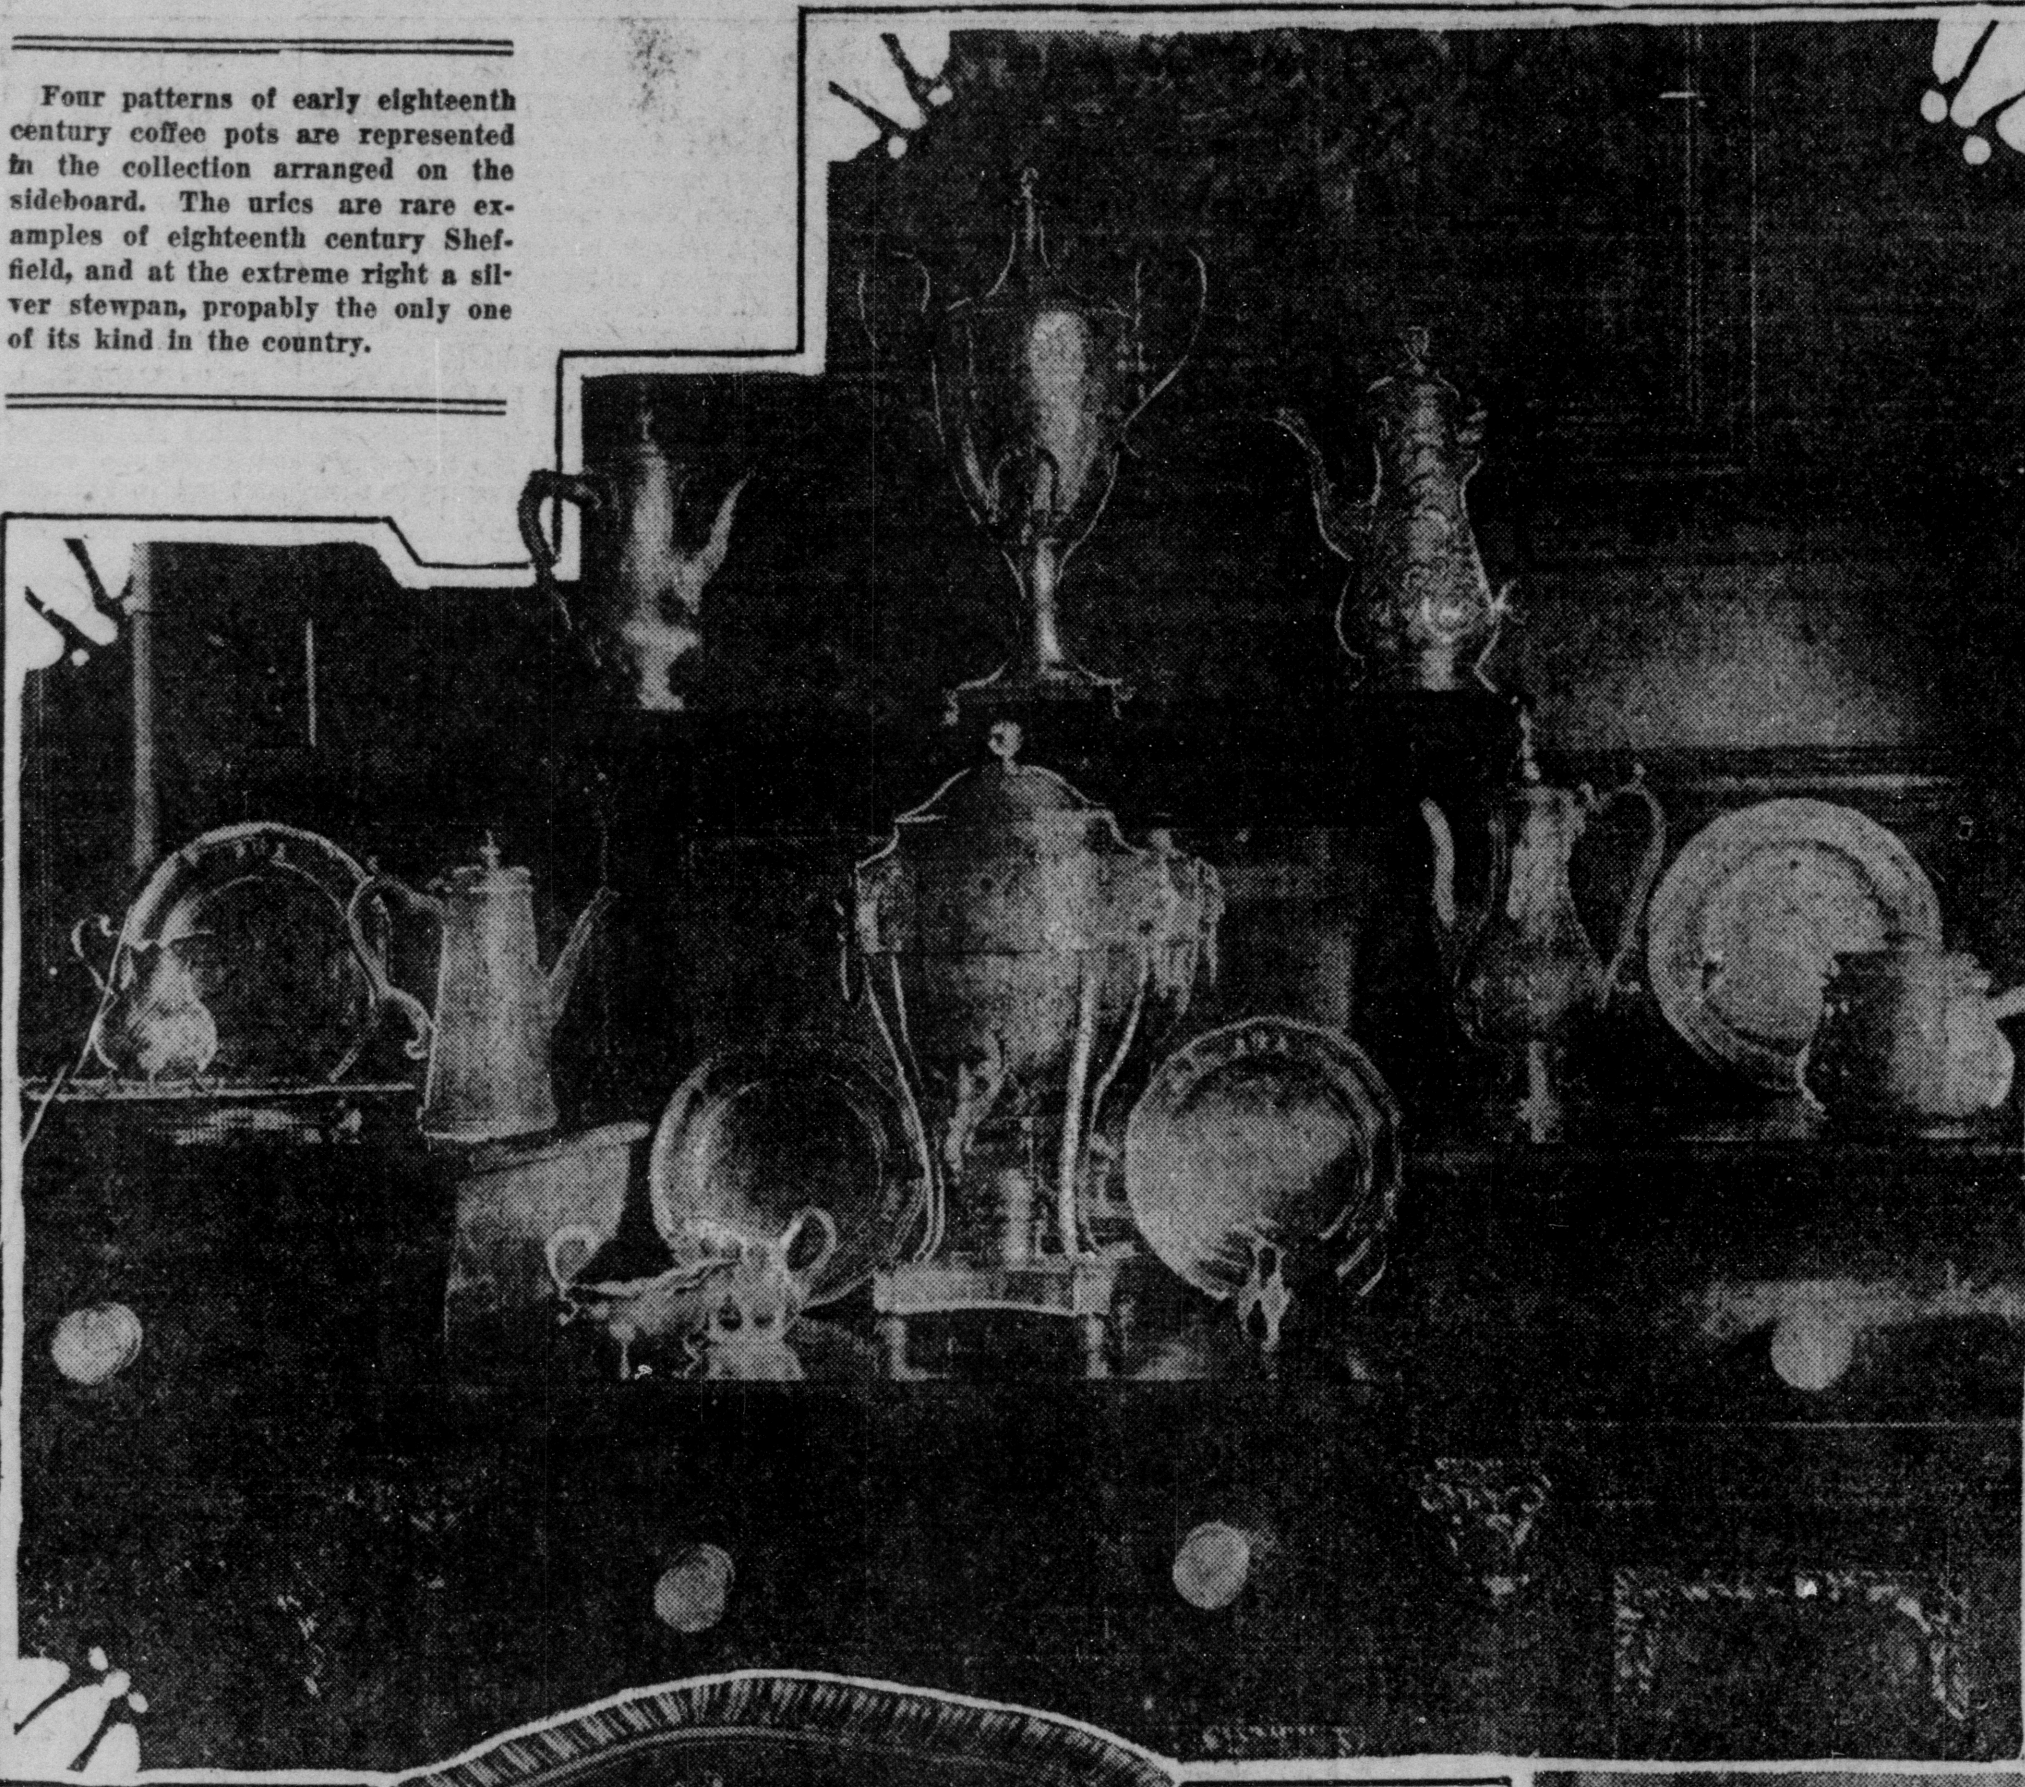

A whistling ale mug is another rare specimen. The end of the handle is equipped with a whistle so that the unfortunate who happened to be pushed off into a corner and unable easily to attract the waiter's attention when his supply of ale had disappeared, might whistle for some more.

Tasting Glasses.

Bon vivants also would be interested in a collection of tasting glasses which served the gallants of an earlier day. These are about five or six inches in diameter and, perhaps, four inches tall. Each side has a "lip" similar to that on a cream pitcher of today. In olden times the tasters were filled with water into which the drinker dipped his glass, "lip." In this way all trace of each resting the stem of the glass in the wine was washed away and the convivial one received his succeeding portion untouched by traces of any other beverage.

Companionship the tasters are the glasses used in this ceremony. These are of the deepest and clearest ruby.

Four patterns of early eighteenth century coffee pots are represented in the collection arranged on the sideboard. The urics are rare examples of eighteenth century Sheffield, and at the extreme right a silver stewpan, probably the only one of its kind in the country.

One of a set of 12 plates, all hand-made and once the property of the famous Burdette Coutts family of England.

Trimmed with gold, and the decanters are of the same royal substance.

Ruby Glass.

Numerous other pieces of ruby glass are in the collection and some of a clear cobalt blue, the secret of which has been lost. Mr. Tippet's fondness for glass is almost as deep as his love of silver. A magnificent pitcher of the rare and extremely valuable Waterford make, a "whispering" compote which emits a clear, ringing sound at the slightest touch and several specimens of the "sheaf of wheat" design are enough to inspire any lover of old glass to redouble his search of beautiful specimens of this art.

A particularly interesting "find" is a set of glass salt cellars, octagonal in shape and about three inches high. Each sets upon a base, the general effect of which is like an inverted saucer, and which also is octagonal in shape.

These salt cellars are thought to be among the most valuable to be found anywhere in this country. They hark back to the days when salt was a commodity devoutly to be desired and difficult to secure. They are the earliest of early Colonial.

Companioning them in desirability is a set of water tumblers cut in the sheaf of wheat pattern. Just one of these was Mr. Tippet able to locate on a trip to South Carolina years ago. He purchased it with thanks to fortune upon his lips, for early cut-glass tumblers seldom come within reach of the collector, and several years later, in London, was able to duplicate them exactly in another lucky moment.

Glass serving plates cut in the interesting diamond pattern are another unusual feature of Mr. Tippet's glass and china cases. These plates are about 10 inches across and form a complete set.

Complete Candelabra Collection.

No one in the country probably has a more complete collection of crystal candelabra than has Mr. Tippet. One particularly fine pair, complete in every way, has drop of emerald glass, long and beautifully cut. Their owner declares he has never seen another such specimen in all his 30 years of searching after the beautiful in this particular form.

Remarkably fine teapot and sugar bowl of antique Royal Derby China, part of a complete set in the Tippet collection. The deep blues and reds of the patterns are unrivaled by even the finest specimens of the modern Royal Derby.

An Empire set of candelabra has the hand-carved wood base overlaid with gold in bas-relief, and still another set was designed especially for bedroom use. Most of the candelabra are in constant use in Mr. Tippet's home, having been fitted with electrical equipment so cleverly that the original construction is in no wise destroyed.

Another set has delicate globes, cut in tulip shape and designed to protect the flickering flame from any wanton breeze that blew. As a matter of fact, candelabra rest upon a most every available place in Mr. Tippet's home. Their prisms catch the light from a thousand different angles and reflect it with glittering precision.

The sunshine strikes one for an instant and a thousand tiny rainbows dance for a moment and are gone. The electric light is switched on and they gleam in its radiance as in a royal palace of dreams.

Empire Art.

While Mr. Tippet's taste does not run particularly to the Empire in matters antique, he has several particularly fine pieces of this type of French art. One of the handsomest is a pair of clocks, some 18 inches tall, the timepiece set in a beautifully designed capital mounted upon delicate columns, each little more than an inch in diameter and carved in a delicate and intricate pattern, the whole being overlaid with gold. Mr. Tippet believes himself extremely lucky to have been able to secure the pair in such perfect condition.

Equally fine specimens of the Empire are two mirrors, exactly alike in shape somewhat resembling most every available place in Mr. Tippet's home. Their prisms catch the light from a thousand different angles and reflect it with glittering precision.

One of Thackeray's de Luxe Editions. For a different mood is a set of Thackeray in de Luxe edition. Bound in dull green leather, hand-tooled, it looks innocent enough. As Mr. Tippet expresses it, but to obtain it he was obliged to part with more than $5,000.

Only four sets of the edition were printed and Mr. Tippet's is Number Four. Each volume is profusely illustrated by Thackeray's daughter, Mrs. Ritchie, with etchings in color, and there are copious notes by Mrs. Ritchie, affording an intimate revelation of the way her father moved and worked and had his being.

Another interesting old volume deals with the night life of Tom and Jerry in London and also is superbly illustrated with color plates, as is an ancient book dealing with the humorous adventures of Dr. Syntax.

A relic which will interest all Americans who cherish affectionate recollections of the late King Edward of England in the days when, as Prince of Wales, he paid his famous visit to America in 1864, will be interested in a cane which is a souvenir of that visit and which also is a part of Mr. Tippet's treasure.

The American A. K. R.

It seems that upon occasion of that trip to America the then Prince formed a friendship with an American known only to posterity by his initials, A. K. R., and invited him to visit England to go boar hunting with his Royal Highness. The invitation was accepted and the hunt took place several years later. The silver handle of the cane is carved to represent at one end a boar's head, the eyes being formed of tiny rubies.

Interesting pieces of period furniture also adorn Mr. Tippet's home. His priceless silver gleams softly above the waxed surface of clawfoot mahogany dining table, and upon the Colonial sideboard stand mahogany knife urns, which are particularly rare specimens of their kind. In the bow window stands another sideboard which is said to be one of the best pieces of Hepplewhite in this country.

Germany is reported to be making railroad cars with concrete floors.

Begin Compiling Of New School Budget

While the fiscal year of the New Castle school board runs to July 1, the making of the budget for the coming fiscal year is so important that a budget committee was appointed Wednesday night by President Daniel B. Woolcock to study the budget situation and make recommendations to the board.

A bulletin has already been sent out to the principals of the schools by Superintendent C. C. Green, in which he informed them that the "budget will be balanced, and with no increase in millage this year." He urged the principals to remember this in making their estimates, and also asked to recommend what savings could be made in their schools.

The budget committee consists of Attorney Roy W. Hazen, Mrs. John E. Elliott and W. W. Duff, the same committee that served last year. This committee will immediately begin a survey of the budget and the estimated revenue for the coming year and will endeavor to so apportion the money that the schools may run.

By some economic magic the school system may be able to finish the present school term. It is estimated, although the condition of the school finances at the present time indicate that this will be hard sledding.

High School Boy Commits Suicide

Dead By Hanging

(International News Service)
WESTPORT, Conn., Dec. 15.—Robert Glover, 15-year-old honor student in a local high school, hanged himself by a belt today in the home of Remington Schuyler, widely known artist.

The child's mother, Mrs. Katherine Glover, socially prominent, was immediately notified in Washington where she is attending a White House conference on child health and protection.

Schuyler said he awoke shortly past 3 a. m. and observed a light burning in the room occupied by Robert.

"Don't you think it's nearly time you put out the light and got some sleep, Bob?" Schuyler said he whispered at the door.

"Bob," he called again, "Bob." Thinking the boy had dozed at his desk, Schuyler said he entered and saw the boyish form hanging limp from a closet door. He had mounted a chair, then kicked it from beneath him.

DRAFT SENATE REPEAL MEASURE

Five noted senatorial lawyers have been given the puzzling task of drafting a resolution proposing repeal of the eighteenth amendment while providing federal protection for dry states. Senator John J. Blaine (R) of Wisconsin is chairman. The others are: Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho; Senator Thomas Walsh (D) of Montana; Senator Clarence Dill (D) of Washington, and Senator Felix Hebert (R) of Rhode Island. Blaine and Hebert are wets; Walsh and Dill, former dries, approved the Democratic platform, and Borah is a dry.

Regulation Of Coasting Needed

Fatal Accident Last Night
Emphasizes Need For
Some Regulation

Some regulation of coasting by the youngsters of the city should be made by council or the city police department, according to opinions received from a number of New Castle residents today.

The seriousness of the situation was further impressed upon residents because of the fatal accident last evening, when Aloysius Jendrysik, 16-year-old youth, was killed.

This accident occurred in Union township, outside the city limits, but hazards similar to that which surrounded last night's accident exist in the city.

Practically every street in New Castle which possesses any grade, is being used by children of all ages as coasting sites.

An offer has been made by the Boy Scout council to serve as coasting patrols on streets where coasting is permitted. It was learned today from H. G. Horton, scout executive.

Streets should be designated by the police department, and adequate safeguards provided, where the children may enjoy themselves in safety. Coasting should be strictly prohibited on other streets and the parents of children should assist in seeing that the regulations are obeyed, according to the consensus of local opinion voiced today.

WEATHER WARNING HEARD BY P. R. R.

Railroad Guards Against Traffic
Disruption From Predicted
Cold Wave

Reports from Cleveland that tonight will likely bring the coldest of this season wave into this section of the country caused Pennsylvania railroad authorities at the Erie and Ashtabula divisional office to take steps to be organized against snags in communication lines or other emergencies.

The weather bureau's report said that the mercury would probably fall below zero.

Supervisor of Telegraph and Signals O. A. Ishler, Lake division, with headquarters here, said little difficulty had been experienced with line breaks so far. However, no chances were being taken as a result of today's weather forecast.

The railroad office reported a

New Castle High Opens Basketball Season Tonight

Pittsburgh South High Will Oppose New Castle Team

Coach Bridenbaugh To Give Fans Look At 1932-33 Floor Team

Game To Start At 8 P. M. Visitors Will Be Strong

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh will present the 1932-33 edition of New Castle High School basketball team to the fans tonight at George Washington High gym, at 8 o'clock, and Pittsburgh South High team will be the opponents. This is a pre-season game and has no bearing whatsoever on the W. P. I. A. L. race.

With only a couple of weeks practice the New Castle team will take the floor tonight as the underdogs. Pittsburgh South has already opened their season and has a victory over New Kensington to their credit. Coach Washburn is bringing a smooth working combination to New Castle.

New Castle hopes to retaliate with just as smooth a working machine, but with not many rehearsals the locals cannot be expected to be at top season form.

Johnny Uram, Captain Reiber and Joe Teplica are the regulars from the last year's team available for the game tonight with Walter Kominic and Archie Ridley and Fred Shelloe ready to step in and play if at a moment's notice. Just what the kind of a starting lineup Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will use is not known, the old boy probably won't make up his mind until just before game time.

The tickets for tonight's game will be 35 cents for general admission which admits you to the gallery or balcony if you prefer, and for 50 cents the seats are just off the floor down stairs. These of course are the choice seats. Students will see the game for 25 cents each. Tickets can be had at the Sporting Goods store.

Richards To Referee
Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner announced today that Sam Richards, a New Castle boy would handle the game as referee. Richards is a qualified member of the Beaver Valley Referee's association, and a capable official.

Remember that this is only the first game of the season and don't form any opinions too soon. New Castle's basketball team this year is untied. Filling that center gap left vacant by Andy Lasky is a tough job, also there is a guard to develop for the spot held by Nickie Uram, a clever boy, last year.

SNOW FAILS TO STOP BATTLERS

All Of Them Do Roadwork On Snow Covered Lanes Daily

Weather that hovers near temperature has no terrors for fighters who are in training for pugilistic clashes and every morning one can see battlers doing road work on dirt lanes covered with snow. Several local fighters are preparing for the fistful Monday night at Castle bowl and according to their itinerary they take a several miles run-and-walk each morning.

The boys who go through this early morning ritual are Merle Gibson, Homer Gray and Pee Wee Carney. Gray and Merle are docked to box each other while Pee Wee will tackle Tommy Kilrain of Akron.

Marty Toukonen is helping Ross Fields at Cleveland while Jackie Wilson is training with Billy Holt at Pittsburgh. Kilrain is sparring daily with Young Terry at Akron.

Where They Train.
Here's the fistful card and their training headquarters:

Ross Fields vs Jackie Wilson. Fields is training at Jimmy Dunn's gym in Cleveland. Wilson is "prepping" at Jess Miller's headquarters in Pittsburgh.

Young Terry vs Marty Toukonen. Terry is training at Charlie Gruver's gym in Akron and Toukonen is working out daily at Gray's armory where Dunn's headquarters are located.

Pee Wee Carney is tossing punches with Jack Kearns and Johnny Banko at Bob Latta's gymnasium here while Tommy Kilrain is whirling gloves with Young Terry in the Akron training room.

Gibson is being fitted for battle at the Park at 6 p. m. daily while Homer Gray takes to the training quarters in the same place at 7:30 p. m. daily.

A. who every year take it upon themselves to see that the Union high gridders are given a little recognition for their work. Coach Boyd will present letters and gifts to the team members.

It is expected that about 300 will attend. Mayor Charles Mayne of New Castle is the principal speaker.

Sacred Hearts Top Youngstown

Sacred Heart "B" team of New Castle traveled to Youngstown last evening and defeated the fast St. Basil's Five 26 to 23 in a well played game. Tonight the Sacred Hearts will play the Temple Israel team in the "Y" Church League here.

Pitt Panthers Work Indoors

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—With Old Man Winter showing no signs of relenting, another indoor practice session for Pitt's gridiron representatives was on tap today as Coach Kugler met with his scouts in his private office to outline a plan of strategy for the Rose bowl game with Southern California.

Because of the snow and cold here this week, the Panther has been unable to practice outdoors and drills have been staged in the armory. Sutherland's scouts returned from the Trojan-Notre Dame game with the information: "Southern California is mighty, mighty tough."

Baseball Men To Windup All Business Today

Both Leagues Will Meet In Joint Session To Ratify Various Changes

SEVERAL PLAYER DEALS REPORTED

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The battle of broken arches will end today when the baseball moguls of both leagues meet in joint session. Two days of standing about hotel lobbies have left the head men of baseball exhausted and altogether they haven't accomplished much they have done a great deal of talking and standing. Tonight the moguls will take out of town, nursing tired feet and cogitating on results of the meeting.

This year's session started off sensationally with the Giants, Pirates and Phillies engineering a three-cornered deal that will have far reaching results next summer when the crack of base hits replaces the tinkle of ice in tall glasses. But after that the meeting resolved itself into an ear-to-the-ground session, with everyone asking everyone else: "What do you know that I don't?"

Sensational Trades
A mild flurry ensued yesterday when Joe Cronin and Bill Killefer emerged from a two-day huddle to announce a trade that sent Walter Stewart, Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte to Washington in exchange for a bundle of cash, Lloyd Brown, Sam West and Carl Reynolds, all of whom will draw their pay checks from the Browns next season.

The one guy all the clubs are after is good old Joe Cash, the lad who never fails to keep in condition, always reports on time and the only one who can be translated into terms of procedure. Baseball men thought the Browns and Senators would wind up about even on the trade, each club getting what it wanted.

Marberry For Whitehill
The flurry caused by this deal hardly had subsided when the Senators pulled another one last night, swapping Fred (Pip) Marberry, veteran right-hand pitcher, to Detroit for Earl Whitehill, premier southpaw hurler, in an outright trade.

Judge Emil Fuchs, of Boston, took out his wallet and laid $60,000 on the line to buy a couple of youngsters from the San Francisco club. They are Dick Gyselman and Albert Wright, both under 20, went shopping to wind up with Clarence Blair of Los Angeles and Brooklyn acquired Linus Frey of Nashville, an infielder, for Earl Mattingly.

The joint meeting today is expected merely to confirm the action the leagues took in separate conclaves. It is expected May 15 will be the date set for the 23 player limit to go into effect and it is anticipated a policy of home rule will be enacted in the matter of radio broadcasting.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Harvey Harman, former New Castle high school football griddler and now University of Pennsylvania coach pronounces Roy Engle, Red and Blue center the best in the east. Engle is one reason why Penn has such a strong defensive line this season, Harman declared recently. "Roy analyses a play and then quickly calls upon his excellent physique and indomitable courage to break it up" Harman is quoted as saying.

Jimmy McLarnin and Sammy Fuller are scheduled to fight in New York, December 16 and Cope land Burg of the I. N. S. recalls that while Jimmy is said to have started when he was about 15 the first professional fight he made is listed as occurring about eight years ago in Oakland, Calif. The card was headed by Harry Greb but the bout more exciting. Burg claims that his opponent put a glove on him but it was only a few seconds until "Baby Face" had registered a boxing lesson and coasted to a neat victory. Burg recalls that the next day he wrote a story stating Jimmy would eventually win the lightweight title. He did not do this but some folks call him the uncrowned champion according to Burg.

Horse racing is called the sport of all kings but horse racing did not pay the king of England during the season just ended. The king's horses won seven races but the total of the stakes less than $19,000, did not cover the stable expenses, according to a story from London.

Lefty Grove, the Athletics pitcher, made more trouble for the New York Yankees than any other hurler in 1932. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, was questioned by Lefty Grove compared with Gomez, southpaw ace of the Yankees, McCarthy replied that Gomez was not saved for easy opposition. He wanted to pitch every time Grove went on the hill for the Athletics. McCarthy recalled that Gomez beat the Athletics in the first seven starts.

Anthracite coal field boxing clubs should show a profit this winter as reports from Wilkes-Barre say that thousands of coal miners have returned to work and promoters are looking forward to netting some returns. The Anthracite is in operation there. Morgan Bird is the matchmaker. He has put on some similar shows. The Anthracite region has developed such scrappers as Steve and Pete Latzo, the latter once world's welterweight champion; Joey Gans and Billy Bevan. The latter fought Yankee Gilbert here years ago. Three coal miners are now being watched. They are Frankie Cawley, heavyweight, Wildcat O'Connor, lightweight, Joe Kaminsky, middleweight, and Sarpyolis, a heavyweight wrestler, who has been making his way upward in the west and who is soon to head for the east.

T. C. Borland of Oil City is one of the Cornell gridders to receive a letter.

Leeds won from Wigan 18-9 in the first Rugby game ever played under floodlights, according to London reports.

Slippery Rock Teachers have scheduled 1933 grid games with Waynesburg, Thiel, Westminster and Grove City.

Washington yesterday swapped Fred Marberry, hurler to Detroit for Earl Whitehill, southpaw pitcher. Sam West and Carl Reynolds outfielders and southpaw Lloyd Brown of the Senators were also traded to St. Louis. Browns for outfielders Goose Goslin, Fred Schulte and a southpaw pitcher Walter Stewart.

Pep Chapel At Senior High

Under the supervision of Principal Frank L. Orth, the students of New Castle Senior High held a rousing pep chapel program this morning in order to steam up interest in the New Castle-Pittsburgh South basketball game to be played tonight at George Washington High floor.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh gave a fine talk on the outlook of the basketball season, and also presented several of his floormen to the students. Bridenbaugh promised that New Castle would have a good team this year, but he didn't know just how good they were.

Illinois Quintet Will Play Irish

(International News Service) NOTRE DAME, Ind., Dec. 15.—Vally Roetiger, Cincinnati Reds center fielder, brought his Illinois Wesleyan basketball team to town today to wage battle with the Notre Dame quintet tonight.

poetry which aims, or seems to aim,
at instruction as its object, making pleasure entirely subservient to this.

Blind Charlie Greets Another Yuletide Season

"I am always glad when the Christmas season comes. It brings an air of gaiety and I can feel it.
People have a certain spring in their steps when they pass by—I notice
that every year."

Charlie Thomas, who with his tin
cup is a familiar figure at Washington and Mill streets, has greeted Christmas in darkness for over a quarter century, yet he can say that. He continued:

"Even when money is scarce as
this year, everyone is happy just the same. It's in the air. I have been getting very little in my cup. But I understand. No one has much."

"Yes, it is cold sitting here. But it is at home too. I don't have a heating stove and, especially at night, it gets very, very cold there.
I try to stay close to my kitchen stove. That helps. But now I just have half a basket full of coal left."

"But I had a quarter dropped in the cup already today and 47 cents yesterday. And that will help. I don't have much of anything. But I'm glad it's Christmas just the same."

Beautiful Pageant Presented In Church

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church
Is Scene Of Christmas Program Wednesday
Evening

The auditorium of St. Andrew's Episcopal church was well filled
Wednesday night when the members of the Girl's Friendly Society, aided by the Men's Club of the church, presented a most impressive
and colorful Christmas pageant,
"The Nativity."

The four scenes were most realistic and the beautiful music added
impressiveness to the story.

When the pageant was concluded,
Miss Anne Hitchen, director of the production, in appreciation of the splendid work of the cast, was hostess at a social period and a committee, Mrs. Catherine Smith, Mrs.
Jane Eardley and Mrs. William Wignall, served refreshments to the group.

HOTEL FIRE IS REAL AFTER MOVIE STUNT

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 15.— Fire, starting in the furnace room of the Grand Hotel here, swept up through a laundry chute today to the third and fourth floors and the roof, periling guests and employees.
The damage was estimated at $10,- 000.

Two weeks ago moving pictures of the hotel were taken and firemen
"rescued" guests from the third floor. These scenes were almost duplicated today. The 30 guests were warned and gathered on the first floor while firemen battled the flames. The hotel is one of the best known in Beaver county.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

A fine day to open a bridge, if you like your bridge openings done in a breezy style. Down among the wide open spaces around Montgomery Avenue the wind has a full orchestral effect on a day like this and the speeches on the bridge (which are over as you read this) should be short and snappy. The weather will be snappy enough.

At least one chap who was once a business man in New Castle has found the sort of solitude he desires.
A couple of years ago he decided to go into the chicken raising business
and buying himself a piece of land out in the country he started. He lives out there alone, with his chickens to occupy his time and while there isn't as much excitement in this business as the one he once was in, there is nobody to bother him.

These are the days of football banquets. Ellwood City held its banquet last night. Union has one scheduled tonight and next Tuesday night the Shenango High folks fete their gridders. New Castle High is expected to have one in the near future.

This is the day when your new automobile license tags are good and if you have them you probably are wearing them. You have fifteen days yet to wear the old ones if you wish, but after midnight of December 31, you need new tags. Either that or else.

One of the things the state highway patrol men do not like to do is arrest anybody. Life would be one grand sweet song for them if they could get by without taking anybody in for motor violations; believe it or not. Evading arrest at the hands of these lads is easy. All you have to do is follow the motor code,
and most of it is merely common sense put into statute form.

The motorist hasn't a better
friend than the highway patrol.
Their job is to aid the motorist, and every time they yank some smart driver in because he insists upon driving with illegal lights, or without his license card, or for some other violation they are making it easier for you to drive the highways
in safety.

They have arresting authority, but use it only as a last resort. If they can fix a case up without arrest
they will, but don't get the idea
they won't take you in. Back of the friendly smile they greet you with
is a good bit of man, and because they treat you like a gentleman
don't get the idea that won't enforce the law.

Borrowers Are Urged To Bring Library Cards

Saves Time For Desk Assistant
When Borrowers Carry
Card

The public library wishes to ask the cooperation of its patrons in bringing in their borrowers' cards
whenever they wish to borrow books.
While it is possible to borrow a book without one's card, the operator takes double the time. The desk
assistant must verify the borrower's number. If he brings in his card it can be done at a glance. If he does not, assistant must look it up in a file of over ten thousand cards. "The name is Doe." "Are you John or William?" or "Elizabeth or Martha?"
as the case may be.

The work of public libraries all over the country has increased enormously in the last three years,
and the New Castle library is no exception. The increased burden of work is being done by a smaller staff than last year. Many libraries
refuse to loan books to a borrower
who neglects to bring his card,
others charge him a fee of from two
to five cents for looking up his card number.

It will materially aid in saving congestion at the loan desk if each borrower takes the responsibility of caring for and bringing in his own card. It may be found convenient to trim the card to a size to fit one's pocket book, notebook, or passbook.

Only the borrower's number, name
and address need be shown.
Please bring your card!
